American Mission To Iraq Is Raised To Embassy Status By Truman

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(INS)—President Truman today strengthened U. S. diplomatic representation in the strategic Near East by raising the American mission in Iraq to embassy status and also is sending Myron Taylor back to the Vatican.

Mr. Truman named George Wadsworth, veteran career diplomat, as ambassador to Iraq. Wadsworth has been minister to Syria and Lebanon.

The President ordered Taylor to return to Rome as his personal representative to "resume discussions on matters of importance with His Holiness Pope Pius XII and others in authority."

A White House announcement said that Taylor, who holds ambassadorial rank, also will resume efforts to reorganize the Italian Red Cross and take over his position as chairman of American relief for Italy.

PA NEW OBSERVES

The automobiles carried Pennsylvania plates but the deer were evidently shot their deer out of the state. Deer season in the state of Michigan opened on November 15 and closes on November 30 for those using guns, while the bow and arrow boys can hunt between October 1 and November 5.

Half a dozen or more new buses for some eastern city struck New Castle en route just about the time the parade crowd was disbanding on Friday afternoon. Drivers had some time getting the big machines through the streets at that time.

Following the parade on Friday afternoon, there was something of a traffic jam on practically all of the downtown streets. Police officers had a real job for a half hour or more, getting the tangles straightened out and keeping traffic moving.

Coal Strike Causes Employment Drop

By NORMAN AGATHON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 23.—The nation's unemployment rolls were increased today as first cut backs in America's steel and automobile industries came on the third day of the nationwide strike of 400,000 soft coal miners.

Industrialists predicted unemployment may eventually reach the 25,000,000 figure if the coal strike continues for 30 days.

Steel makers already have announced production cutbacks, adding that more were to come within the next two weeks. The country's major steel mills have a 15-day average supply of coal on hand.

Production Cut Next Week
A steel spokesman said production will be cut to more than 50 per cent of normal late next week if the strike continues.

The trucking industry and river barge workers felt the effects of the miners' strike in the Pittsburgh area. More than 1,200 truckers and seamen have been thrown out of work.

In Detroit, the automobile industry, already hit by a shortage of rolled sheet steel, faces nearly a complete stoppage within 10 days. Fabricating plants and other steel dependent firms began reducing production.

Layoffs on railroads throughout the heavy coal carrying areas have furnished an unestimated number of train crews. Additional revenue will be lost beginning Sunday midnight (Continued on Page Two)

Alps Plane Wreck Survivors Reached

(BULLETIN)

MEIRINGEN, Switzerland, Nov. 23.—(INS)—The United States embassy at Bern reported today that a Swiss rescue team has reached the 11 Americans stranded on an Alpine glacier for four days.

This report also reached U. S. Army headquarters in Frankfurt, Germany.

Earlier dispatches said all the Americans were alive.

They were aboard the C-53 Dakota transport that crashed into the Alps last Tuesday.

Brig. Gen. Ralph Tate circled the wreckage in another aircraft and spoke by radio with his son, a captain, who was the pilot of the C-53.

The general's wife was one of the passengers in her son's plane. The other 10 persons include three women, and an 11-year-old girl.

Capt. Tate reportedly told his father that all persons had survived their struggle with the Alpine weather, although seven apparently (Continued on Page Two)

Sun's Eclipse Seen At Noon

With the haze of smoke and clouds serving the same purpose of smoked glasses, the partial eclipse of the sun today was clearly visible here at noon today.

At 12:30 about one-fourth of the sun was obscured from view by the moon's coming into the light path between the sun and the earth.

Youngsters in the street and housewives on front porches were able to get a good look at the phenomenon, with only occasional need for film or dark glasses.

Budenz Spurs Plans For Probe Of Red Activities

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(INS)—The House un-American activities committee today mapped a sweeping investigation into Communism early next year on the basis of inside information given by Louis F. Budenz, a former party leader.

Budenz spent four and half hours on the witness stand Friday outlining Communist aims and the workings of the party leaders.

He promised to reappear before the committee shortly after congress convenes in January with documented evidence concerning Communist infiltration into the American press, radio and movies, together with a detailed list of "Communist Front" organizations and individuals.

Balloon Parade Draws Record Crowd To City

Thousands See Unique Holiday Parade Spectacle On Friday Afternoon

MERCHANTS BACK STAGING OF EVENT

There have been many large crowds on the streets of New Castle. Halloween parades, New Year's Eve celebrations, election nights, with V-J Day leading the league up to about 4 o'clock Friday afternoon November 22.

That was the hour of the Rubber Balloon parade and that was also the hour when all previous marks for crowds were topped. There just never was a crowd on the streets of New Castle like that.

All Around the Town
Washington street and the other downtown streets were packed. The crowd spread on down Mill street clear to Long avenue. Long avenue was jammed and Moravia street was lined with cars from Long avenue to the public square.

It wasn't an entirely New Castle crowd. Ellwood City sent at least 500 automobile loads over, Bessemer, Wampum, New Wilmington, the Beaver valley and even from Pittsburgh they came, spilling into the streets and combining to hang up a new all time record.

The parade was the opening gun of the Christmas season and was sponsored by the merchants' division of the Greater New Castle Association. The line of march started at the Pennsylvania Power building on Jefferson street, on up to the public square, over Washington to Mill, down Mill to Long, down Long to Moravia and then back to the power building. And that line of march, about 2 1/2 miles long, was one mass of humanity, out to see the grotesque characters in the line.

Comic Strip Characters
In the line were comic strip characters done in huge balloon fashion on foreign soil.

Trieste Issues Veto Problem To Be Discussed

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—A double bill is scheduled for the Waldorf today, where the Big Five reconvenes at 3:30 p. m. to discuss the veto and the Council of Foreign Ministers at 5 o'clock on unsolved Trieste problems.

The Big Four, after a four-hour session yesterday which brought little progress and no decisions, will have before it this afternoon another draft by the deputies summarizing the agreed and disagreed points of the free territory statute.

The two major controversies holding up virtual agreement on that vital section of the Italian treaty are the removal of British and American troops from the Trieste region and the procedure to be adopted in forming the provisional local government. On both issues, Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov and the western delegates remain at loggerheads, despite repeated efforts.

Chicago Jumps Gun On Dimout

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—(INS)—Chicago jumped the gun today in moving to comply with the dimout orders of the Civilian Production Administration to conserve coal during the soft coal strike.

Lights were scheduled to go out tonight in a dimout, even more drastic than that in effect in wartime.

As various groups voluntarily moved to meet the CPA orders, an ominous note was sounded by the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation in Gary, Ind.

Spokesmen for the company said that steel production at Gary and South Chicago would be cut next week to a "theoretical" 68.2 per cent of capacity. This week's output was 91.4 per cent.

Surrenders As Prison Fugitive

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 23.—(INS)—William Phillips, 50, who told authorities he is a fugitive from a Florida prison farm where he was serving a life term for murder, surrendered at police headquarters today.

Assistant Detective Chief Emil Lambiase who ordered Phillips held for investigation, quoted the man as saying he fled a prison camp at Belgrade, Florida, last July 26 and had spent the interim in wandering from city to city.

Lambiase said Phillips was convicted of murder in Dade county Florida in March 1941 after he shot another white man and wounded two others in a quarrel over a dice game.

U. S. To Support Turkey's Stand On Dardanelles

Will Resist Soviet's Demand For Joint Control Of Strategic Straits

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(INS)—The United States today was prepared fully to support Turkey in resisting Russian demands for joint control of the strategic Dardanelles straits.

The Dardanelles question is expected to be raised again soon. The moving factor in the revival of the issue is based on recent reports from Turkey.

From Ankara word has been received that Russia has renewed demands that the Soviet Union privately discuss the matter of fortification and control of the straits directly with Turkey.

In this new note, Russia was reported to have rejected the United States' demand that the Montreux convention, now governing the straits, be renegotiated.

Claims He's Original Of "Kilroy Was Here"

BOSTON, Nov. 23.—(INS)—Kilroy was here—and still is here today—getting ready to take home with him a 40-year-old street car he won in a contest.

James J. Kilroy, 44, of Hallowell, claims to be the original "Kilroy" who was here, there and everywhere. He was winner of a nationwide contest, sponsored by the American Transit Association, for the best letter on the subject: "Kilroy was here."

He'll use his prize as an addition to his 6-room cottage in Hallowell. Kilroy, a rate setter at the Fore River shipyards of the Bethlehem Steel plant, Quincy, told in his prize-winning letter that he used to mark "Kilroy was here" on tanks being fitted for sea duty. That was to show the test crews that he had inspected the job.

He wrote:
"It wasn't long before tanks were marked 'Kilroy was here' before I had been near them."

What's more he declared the aircraft carrier Lexington, heavy cruiser Baltimore and battleship Massachusetts carried his now famous phrase before leaving the yards.

Kilroy said the three words became a sort of slogan at the yard. It spread from there and as time passed 14,000 men entered the service from the yard, carrying the "trademark" all over the world.

Three Children Burn To Death

Explosion Of Gasoline Heater Is Blamed For Fatal Fire In New Jersey Home

CAPE MAY COURTHOUSE, N. J., Nov. 23.—(INS)—Explosion of a gasoline heater was blamed by police today for the fatal fire which killed three children and injured their mother.

The fire broke out at the home of Mrs. Harry Fowler at Dennis, N. J., bringing death to three of their nine children.

The Fowler's had left their children at home while they attended the movies. The fire broke out while the children were asleep and only the quick-thinking of Dorothy, 14, the eldest prevented all from being trapped.

Victims of the fire were Alice, 7, James, 5, and Margaret, 3, the surviving children. Shirley, 11, Flora, 6 and Peter, 4, suffered severe burns.

Truman Returns To Washington To Head Battle

Expect President To Delay Action Until Contempt Case Is Heard

EFFECTS OF COAL STRIKE WIDESPREAD

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—President Truman returns to Washington today to push through the government's fight against John L. Lewis in the nation-wide walkout of 400,000 soft coal miners.

The president was expected to be given a complete report by Interior Secretary J. A. Krug and Attorney General Tom Clark to whom he issued instructions from his Florida vacation headquarters for a showdown court battle with the UMW.

Mr. Truman was expected to stay in close contact with Krug and Clark. It was believed, however, that he would not take any personal step in the matter until the government's contempt case against Lewis has run its course.

Not Contemplated
A highly responsible source on Capitol Hill said today that Mr. Truman at present is not considering either:
1. Calling a special session of the 79th congress to support his "crack-down" on the United Mine Workers' president with legislation, or
2. Appealing to the miners direct to desert the Lewis line and return to the pits to mine coal that will keep the nation's industrial wheels turning.

Lewis must appear before federal district Judge T. Alan Goldsborough Monday to explain why he should not be punished for contempt in refusing to cancel a notice terminating the miners' wage contract with the government.

What Mr. Truman will do after the case is decided was described as "another matter."

President Ends Vacation Stay

Returning To Capital From Week Spent In Southern Florida

BOCA CHICA NAVAL AIR STATION, Fla., Nov. 23.—(INS)—President Truman ended his brief vacation in South Florida today and took off for Washington to seek swift settlement of the critical nationwide soft coal strike.

The chief executive left this naval air station at 10:10 a. m. (EST). He is due back in Washington between 2:30 and 3 p. m. this afternoon.

Before leaving, the president held a brief political pow-wow with a group of Florida Democratic politicians, headed by Rep.-Elect George Smathers of Miami.

"Silent On Coal Strike"
Mr. Truman was holding his own counsel on future administrative moves to halt the soft coal strike.

Under the Florida sun he has thrown off the effects of a cold contracted during his visit to Missouri in the November national election.

Restored and refreshed, he will plunge into the fight to break the crippling strike immediately on his return to the White House.

The president's present strategy in the strike is for the courts to carry through the fullest extent of the contempt proceedings against United Mine Workers' President John L. Lewis and his miners.

Thirty-Three Hurt In Riots

(BULLETIN)

CAIRO, Nov. 23.—(INS)—At least 33 persons, including 13 policemen and more than a score of Egyptian students, were injured today when hand grenades were thrown during full-scale rioting at Foad Elawal university.

An incendiary bomb also was thrown when the students clashed with police on the university quadrangle after anti-government demonstrations by the undergraduates.

At least nine grenades were tossed before army officers joined the melee and dispersed the rioters with tear gas.

When your breath comes out like a fleecy white cloud and the car is reluctant to start; when the stores are displaying a long line of wool and the chestnuts are coming apart; when the temperature's down and it's some down today; when there's ice in the gutters at dawn, you can lay all you have that the summer is past and the autumn is jolly well gone. For the winter is lurking round you hilly bend, and the snow isn't too far away, which only recalls that you may need some coal, and it's just thirty-seven today.

Distribution Plan For Coal Dealers Here

Coal supplies in the yards of dealers in New Castle are alarmingly low. It was revealed today. Orders from customers keep pouring in and in order to be sure the coal goes to where it is really needed, the New Castle Coal Dealers Association is following the plan of other cities. The plan is this: Before any one can get a ton of coal he must first sign a statement certifying that he has less than six days supply of coal on hand and that he is legally entitled to receive one ton. This plan it is thought will be announced officially by Harry Suder, solid fuels administrator, within a day or so.

suffered injuries in the crash. The message said: "Four are in good shape." Swiss officials said the wrecked plane was wedged into a glacial fissure. They advised American authorities to cease parachuting supplies for fear that, in attempting to retrieve them, some of the survivors may tumble into icy crevasses.

It was believed that no attempt would be made today to bring down the survivors. The rescue team was prepared to administer first aid and help the weakened Americans to recover their strength before making the descent.

Relief Train Arrives

A fully-equipped U. S. Army relief train awaits the survivors in the valley below. A Swiss pilot who flew over the scene during a burst of sunshine radioed that the survivors signalled with blankets and sheets. They said they needed warm clothing and medicine. Although American craft have littered the glacier with packages, the Swiss airman said most of them fell out of reach.

Pittsburgh Hotels Strike Is Ended

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 23.—(INS)—The 53-day-old strike at eight major Pittsburgh hotels was ended today when 1800 employees returned to work after accepting a new wage agreement. Members of the AFL-Hotel and Restaurant Employees Alliance voted by a substantial majority last night to accept a 12-cent hourly wage increase for non-tip employees and eight-cent an hour boost for tip receiving workers. The new contract called for a 60-cent an hour minimum for all workers.

U. S. AND BRITAIN READY TO REPLY TO SOVIET DEMAND

sure of internal armed force strength as well as the size of garrisons in friendly states and ex-enemy territories. Britain's Minister of State, Philip J. Noel-Baker, planned to tell the 54-member UN Political and Security Council that although Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov in the main had shown a conciliatory attitude, there were "inconsistencies" in the two speeches he has made in the last 48 hours.

Criticism By Molotov
Molotov criticized both the United States and Great Britain for maintaining air, land and sea bases "all over the world." He cited presence of U. S. forces in China, Panama, Brazil and elsewhere, and British occupation of Greece.

In answering an American call for the tailing of armed forces "at home," the Soviet foreign minister agreed, but said he "saw no real reason for it" unless tied into an arms reduction discussion.

Primarily, Molotov was insisting that the United Nations Military Staff committee get the foreign troop inventory immediately so it could be guided in establishing an international police force. It was his contention that creation of this force was the first essential in bringing about a worldwide reduction in armaments. America and Britain agree with the latter premise.

If the idea of the merchants' division was to get people down town, it succeeded beyond the wildest imagination. Traffic was tied up as tight as the coal mines, bus drivers were quietly going nuts wondering if they would ever get their craft through, schedules were forgotten and the thousands of folks just took the streets over. Which was okay.

So the Christmas season was ushered in, the merchants' division broke the record for crowds in New Castle and the kids saw an unusual parade. You couldn't ask for more.

SORANTON, Pa., Nov. 23.—(INS)—Leading merchants at Soranton initiated a move today to protest the federal government's dimout order on Yuletide displays and decorative lighting.

The navy arranged to loan power-generating equipment to communities whose essential public services are jeopardized by the fuel shortage.

Civilian Production Administrator John D. Small issued the brownout order. It was accompanied by a directive providing for curtailment of gas service.

Small said the action was taken to forestall a breakdown of essential public utilities and to maintain fair distribution of power. The order curtails indoor and outdoor advertising, display and ornamental lighting, air-conditioning and elevator service.

Sen Byrd's Suggestion

The coal crisis had continuing repercussions in congress. Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) demanded that Attorney General Clark take contempt of court action against local UMW officials and demand the union's funds for "breaking" their contract.

In a telegram to Clark, Byrd said: "To single out John Lewis alone for punishment is no solution to the crisis facing us. This will not end the coal strike but may prolong it by making a martyr of him in the eyes of his coal miners."

"However, as Lewis has already served his contempt papers, I urge that you begin similar proceedings against the officials of every local union of the UMW in their respective districts. Lewis' lieutenants are just as guilty as he."

Radio Artists Strike Delayed

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—(INS)—The threatened strike of the American Federation of Radio Artists, which would have removed most of the "big name" entertainers from the air, was averted today at least until Monday.

A ten hour conference among the heads of the four major networks and union officials ended early this morning with the announcement that no strike action would be taken today. The union tentatively had set the strike date for Saturday.

A special meeting of the radio artists union was called for Sunday at which "certain proposals" from the networks would be considered.

The union said it would give the networks a definite answer to their proposals at 10:30 a. m. Monday.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

Foreign Policy May Be Nearing Change

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—The signposts are multiplying that American foreign policy may be moving in a new direction. The latest such signpost is a speech by one of the moguls of the Republican party which went almost unnoticed.

Speaking before the Petroleum Institute in Chicago, J. Howard Pew of the Sun Oil Company made a more or less direct attack on the kind of practical economic cooperation proposed through the United Nations. The speech was a ringing declaration that America is a nation of rugged individualism must stand aloof from a wicked collectivist world.

Pew is, of course, not a member of the new Congress, nor is he ever likely to stand for elective office. But his influence within the party is very great. Through the lean years, Pew and his more politically minded brother, Joseph N. Pew, Jr., have contributed large sums to keep the Republican party alive.

Their influence in the inner circle of Republicanism is impressive, partly because they speak for the industrialists who are an important nucleus within the GOP. That is what gives so much significance to the Pew speech in Chicago. Apostrophizing the greatness of American initiative, ingenuity, skill and industry, Pew went on to say:

"Now we are told that the economy which produced this standard of living for the American people must be abandoned—that we must embrace economic collectivism. This, it is said, we must do in order that we may live in harmony and prosperity with nations that have chosen the collectivist course."

Such is the primary justification offered for the multitude of proposals now being projected under the auspices of the United Nations Organization. These are the threads now being woven into the fabric that may become a strait-jacket of government control for our American domestic economy as well as world trade. Each of these United Nations proposals should be studied in its relation to the other, for under the master plan it is intended that they should be coordinated under the U. N. economic and social council.

Pew then attacked specifically the proposal of the U. N. Food and Agriculture Organization for an international food board to regulate commodity supplies until the world's food supply is able to normalize. He directed a more oblique attack on the State Department's proposal for an international trade organization under the U. N. This, according to Pew, contains provision for "international governmental agreements."

His chief fire, however, was reserved for the petroleum agreement which we negotiated with Great Britain two years ago. Because of the vigorous protests of the petroleum industry in this country, that agreement was watered down in negotiations a year ago. In the form in which it now is pending before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, it is little more than a promise to consult on world petroleum problems.

See "Super-State Cartel" Y. E. R. cited the remark of a State Department adviser to underscore his conviction that a battle is on to subject the oil industry to a super-state cartel. He pointed a finger of suspicion at the recent call for the convening of a United Nations scientific conference on resources conservation and utilization, to meet in the last six months of next year to survey the extent of exhaustible natural resources throughout the world.

And finally, he indicated that while he had at one time been willing to "go along" with the renegotiated oil treaty, his doubts were so aroused that he would probably have to oppose it. A large and growing segment of the oil industry, he said, opposes Senate approval of the treaty.

The Pews are a remarkable family. As independents they successfully fought the big oil companies. They took on Roosevelt and the New Deal as a personal vendetta. Joseph Pew, otherwise a mild-tempered man, was capable of gloating in the recent campaign.

"The Pew Paper" is a good. The golden rule which charmed our children away from their loyalties is still. But in Pennsylvania the political rats are left.

Although they speak from the opposite side of the ideological fence, the Pew type sound curious.

It is like the extreme Leftists in the American system of free enterprise. Therefore, just as do the Pews, they want to pull away from any cooperation. Between them, they are likely to tear our world apart and, in the process, destroy the very liberties that the rugged individualists profess to be defending.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERIC BRANDEIS

Since "The Hucksters" was published and became a best seller on the book list, it has become the fashion to laugh at advertising people and to consider them a mixture of clowns, sideshow-spellers and well-hucksters.

I can't say that I haven't been just as guilty as the rest, but it has taken my trip through the country to see how important advertising is and how much America owes to it.

I want you to know that I am not being paid for this (nor did anybody ask me to write an eulogy to advertising).

But so often we take things that are really outstanding for granted and don't realize how much of a blessing they are.

On our trip to California we spent three nights and two-and-a-half days on the train.

If you have ever taken as long a trip as that you know how monstrous it becomes after a while and how strange you feel as you go from state to state and as the endless miles pile up on you.

But all along the road you see friends who make you feel at home and say to you, "Here we are, don't feel strange. You are still at home."

Who are these friends? There are the Texaco sign and the Esso sign and the Sunoco sign and the Lucky Strike and the Chesterfield sign and the Nash and the Ford and the Buick signs—the same ones you see in New York and Chicago, in Kankakee and Ash Fork, in Albuquerque and Emporia.

The train stops, you get out, stretch your legs and buy a newspaper.

I don't care whether it's Albany or Kansas City, Trinidad or Tampa, Phoenix or San Francisco—in every newspaper you see friends, "advertising products," as they call them in the trade.

I just looked through a Los Angeles paper—there they were, my friends from New York and Brooklyn, from your home town and mine—Zemo, for instance, White Rock, the drink with the sparkle, Sun-Kissed oranges, for health, Pepto-Bismol, for indigestion.

The same automobiles that boost their virtues back home are boosting them here; the same "super-colossal, glorious, unforgettable, stupendous, million-dollar" pictures, stung and peddled in Danbury and Lancaster, run the same flashy announcements here.

I don't use many of the products and I don't recommend any of them. Your stomach and your car, your gasoline and your cigarettes are your own business, not mine.

But I like the feeling of the feeling and the people are anxious to make this Christmas one of the thinking about, degrading the home for the BIG day. . . . We have that one day, Thanksgiving, to entertain. A day when we should all stop and think over our lives. . . . now have we lived the past year in such a way that we are well pleased with our work. . . . Have we done unto others as we would like them to do unto us?

This past year has been a busy one and one that will stand out in the history books as very confusing to the generations that are to come. "Had enough" will probably be carried down through the years in the same manner as "Give me liberty or give me death."

With all the labor strikes, . . . the high cost of living, . . . rent control and the lack of sugar, . . . we should not even entertain the thought of neglecting the men and women who are now spending all their days in Veterans Hospitals.

There are means and ways whereby you, . . . who are living a normal life, . . . can help make the days more pleasant for the men who are still suffering. The Neshamock Post Auxiliary number 315 of the VFW have a plan. . . . they are selling magazines, . . . yes, you can purchase a subscription and send interesting reading to the ones in the hospitals. Hospital at Butler, . . . some of our county men are now recovering over there. Think about it, . . . and if interested call Mrs. Elmer Shaffer at 1190-J.

H. B. Richards came in yesterday, . . . right before parade time and said a few words that made us feel mighty proud that we lived in New Castle, . . . the total for the Community Chest is still rising, . . . yesterday it was around the $90,400 mark. Folks that is wonderful, . . . doesn't it make you feel good down deep inside to know that you live among people who fulfill their obligation.

This is another Saturday, . . . tomorrow will be taken as a day of rest, . . . so look for each other in the church of your choice.

Great Game Of Politics

Republicans Face Tremendous Tasks

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—It MAY be that the Republicans are promising more in the way of governmental reduction in size and cost than they can carry out. Taking a million men off the Federal payroll and cutting appropriations $9,600,000,660 is a tremendous job. Nevertheless, they are going to try.

BUT, before too much credit is given them, let it be said that it will be vastly easier for the Republicans to reduce the vast bureaucracy built up and manned by Democrats than it would be for the Democrats to reduce themselves. That goes heavily against the grain; the other is a natural activity which can be pursued with zest. There is also the fact that in such a slashing campaign as is now being built up and manned by Democrats, it is inevitable that many cuts will be too deep. The day may come when personnel will have to be increased and certain boards and bureaus restored.

When that time arrives, however, the odds are the Republicans will be in full control and the restoration and replacements will be for, by and with Republicans. Anyone who does not think this makes a lot of difference in the earnestness with which the ax will be wielded knows little of the practical side of politics. And those who think that after the great pruning has been accomplished all departments and divisions will remain permanently at the pruned size are just naive. It seems incredible that in our time they should again attain the abnormal and unpruned growth of the present. But grow they certainly will. Make no mistake about that. Soon or late the pruning process will have to be repeated.

NONE of this, however, affects the vital necessity of the present proposed reduction. About that there are several things to be said: (1) It is long overdue; (2) if the Republicans do not do it now, if the Government will continue to grow weight; (3) it could not have been done by the Democrats. To realize this, one only has to assimilate the facts recently presented by Senator Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia, who has been fighting to half this expansion for three years. But for that fight the burden would be heavier than it is. True, he did not succeed in forcing any large reduction, but he did stimulate a public sentiment, started a movement and created the Joint Economy Committee, of which he is chairman.

THE most significant of the recent Byrd statements are these: That though he had promises from both President Roosevelt and President Truman to reduce the Federal Government, that in the eight months since the war ended, instead of becoming fewer, civilian employees have increased 231,938; that the only way agency that has been completely liquidated is the war support effort of the Republic; that to make the reductions, Undoubtedly, other conservative Democrats will join with Senator Byrd in this attitude.

CERTAIN, too, it is that their votes will be needed. Because, though with determined economy-minded men like Representative Taber in the House and Senator Taft in the Senate at the head of the key committees, the Republican Party is right for real action, neither the House nor the Senate is expected to be so ready to support the efforts of the Republic to make the reductions. Undoubtedly, other conservative Democrats will join with Senator Byrd in this attitude.

ONE thing in which "true liberals" are consistent in their opposition to economy. All "true liberals" are members of the public funds, one of them is a saver. Economy is alien to them. Therefore, it is quite sure that the Republicans in the Senate will lose a vote or two in the effort to reach their economy goals. They are going to need Senator Byrd and the little group of about a half dozen with him since 1934. Fortunately, for the country, they will get them. This drive against waste has not been a matter of politics with them; but one of principle.

You're Telling Me

By WILLIAM RITT
Central Press Writer

President Truman went to a football game the other day, but we don't see how he could have enjoyed it. Every time a fresh breeze swept the stadium he must have thought of John L. Lewis.

When the referee nullified a long gain, the resemblance to a Russian veto was painful.

The star halfback, we hear, ran like a Republican in the election.

Every time either team tumbled, the President must have been reminded of the recent meat situation.

We understand the President's seats were on the 50-yard line. There he was—in the middle again.

Mr. Truman must have felt a twinge of mutual sympathy for the ball as he saw it being kicked back and forth by BOTH sides.

As he glanced about him, the President could hardly help sensing there was something strangely familiar about the stadium and then he knew—it, too, had no ceiling.

The Parent Problem

By GARY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

A TRAIT THAT DEVELOPS EARLY

The child is born selfish. All the world is his and every other person is his servant until he learns otherwise. Yet some children do learn very early that other persons have certain rights and to respect these rights, but it is a long, tedious procedure. In all the child's guidance, one outstanding central problem faces his parents and all others responsible for his upbringing—to teach him to restrain himself and to make self-denials for the sake of other persons.

Other children help adults in this process of civilizing any child. The child character building agencies, the school and the home with several children, may get wonderful results at inducing a group to practice its individual members in unselfish ways.

Signs Of Selfishness

Every parent wishes his or her child to grow unselfish and is grieved at marked signs of selfishness in this youngster. Yet, all we parents will often, unawares, encourage selfishness in the child. For example, one mother wrote to ask how long she and her husband would have to go on setting an example of unselfishness toward their twelve-year-old daughter before she would emulate this trait in them. Well, I replied that so long as this child was the chief recipient of their self-denials she would only grow more and more selfish.

Who are the grown children least appreciative of their parents and most ungrateful to these parents? Aren't they the children whose parents were always making undue self-denials in order to gratify these children's wishes?

To get best results at promoting selfishness in your child begin very early. Take the baby up the minute he cries, give him anything he wants right when he wants it, amuse him as often and for as long a time as he desires. Continue doing likewise as he grows older. If you are talking to some other person stop instantly if he wishes to check or have you do something for him. No matter what you may be doing stop at once to do his bidding.

Spending Money

When this child begins to spend money, hand the money to him whenever he asks for it, as much as he wants—if you wish him to grow in selfishness. Never go shopping without bringing home a gift for him. When he asks for anything he wants, give him anything he wants right when he wants it, amuse him as often and for as long a time as he desires. Continue doing likewise as he grows older. If you are talking to some other person stop instantly if he wishes to check or have you do something for him. No matter what you may be doing stop at once to do his bidding.

What People Say

(An International News Service)

HARRISBURG—Gen. Jacob L. Devers, commander of army ground forces: "We need, and desperately need, universal military training. A future war would not only strike America first, it would strike America suddenly and savagely."

WASHINGTON—Senator Harry Byrd, D., demands a special session of Congress to deal with the coal crisis: "If one man can stagnate the activities of 142 millions and bring distress and suffering to the homes in our land then our democracy is a hollow sham."

CLEVELAND—Gen. Henry Arnold, wartime commander of the army air forces: "I think strikes are archaic, and have no place in our economy."

WELLESLEY—Roger W. Babson, economist: "Just as before, conditions will go like this: Higher wages, fewer goods, less demand for goods, fewer goods, unemployment, cold, and then we start all over again."

A local benedict tells that he and the little woman have a joint bank account. Furthermore, she is free and easy on the draw.—Augusta, Kan., Gazette

Showdown Is Being Forced

Probably without any intention of so doing, John L. Lewis may be rendering a public service in his high handed actions in the present coal strike. For it may very well be that this will be the showdown between the American people and the labor union czars.

The American public has been long suffering in the past five years in the matter of strikes. Hardly a week has gone by but some community has been plagued by strikes, some for wage adjustments, others over inter-union jurisdictional arguments and some for no apparent reason. Congress, and particularly the Congress of 1935-37-39 has been fair with labor to the point where the public good in some instances was apparently overlooked.

Now Mr. Lewis chooses to defy the government, the public welfare and the possible results to organized labor. Let the coal strike continue for thirty days and Congress may be called into special session. If it is, look out for legislation that will shackle the authority of some labor leaders.

It is true that injunctions of court orders will not mine coal. Neither will they make steel or automobiles or washboards. But legislation can impose financial responsibility upon labor unions that will give them pause before they elect to blackout cities, shut down industries and impose hardships upon the entire nation.

The American public shows signs of being about fed up with the tactics of the Lewises, the Reuthers, the Bridges and the Curran. No man in this country, no group of men can stand out against the balance of the general public for long.

This may be the showdown. It may mean tying up the entire country for a time, it may mean hardship, inconvenience and suffering for a time but in the end the public will win and labor will find itself forced to answer for unwarranted strikes.

Industrial peace is possible between employer and employee and this is demonstrated every day in some industries. There is no reason why industrial peace is impossible in the coal industry or any other industry, save for the unreasonable tactics of self-willed leaders. It is these self-willed leaders that will be curbed, must be curbed if we are to enjoy any degree of economic peace.

What Price Manners?

It might be interesting if somewhat depressing to take a peek at the home life of the bobovox brigade which turned a New York theatre premiere into something very closely resembling a riot and reduced a number of stage and screen stars who attended the performance to a considerable degree of dishevelment.

The scene was the opening performance of Ingrid Bergman in Joan of Lorraine. The teen-age mob, armed with cameras, flash bulbs, autograph books and a working knowledge of the cavalry tactics of Attila the Hun, swarmed over limousines and town cars, yanking open the doors and hauling out such assorted occupants as Charles Boyer, Myrna Loy, Paulette Goddard, Jimmy Stewart and Ginger Rogers' mother.

The results were anything but conducive to preservation of that bandbox look. Recipients of the mob's attentions were pawed and mauled and put in real danger of losing topknots and fur wraps. Police finally had to close off the block.

Perhaps this is the price of popularity in the world of entertainment. If it is, it's quite a price to pay. And included in it is no payment whatever to the parents of these youthful barbarians for giving them a proper upbringing.

In most households pains are taken to impress upon youngsters the value of manners and consideration of the rights of others. These ideas may be old-fashioned but they are soundly based on the principle that without them self-respect is impossible.

Maybe self-respect is no longer important as far as many present-day youngsters are concerned. Far too many of them seem to feel that manners are corny and more likely to hinder than help them in getting what they want out of life.

If such a philosophy gains general acceptance among the young, the prospect is distinctly unpleasant. People who have no consideration for the rights of others often find that others have no consideration for theirs. That's one way to learn, but it's not the way that people with any inkling of what they owe even to themselves would choose.

Goodbye, 'C' Rations

There are several million GIs who will get a healthy satisfaction out of the news that the War department has finally admitted that the Army 'C' ration is not all it was cracked up to be. After a month of scientific tests the Army has discovered that troops do not thrive on this particular diet. A company of soldiers, who served as guinea pigs in the experiment, lost an average of one pound per man when they were fed nothing but the familiar meat and beans and so on of the 'C' fare.

The trouble with this discovery is that it comes too late to be of much good to most of the millions of men whose gripes and grouses finally persuaded the Army to take a belated look at this particular ration. Their days of dining out of Army mess kits are over and past. They will never taste the new 'E' ration with its more generous portions and its allowance of 20, instead of nine, cigarettes a day.

The lateness of the change does not prevent it from being a highly welcome one. The Army still provides meals for more men than any other single organization in the United States. It is pleasant to think they are to be better cared for and it is also nice to know that the War department is not as deaf to what the GI thinks as soldiers are inclined to think it is.

But the department is living in a fool's paradise if it thinks that the new emergency ration, however good it is, will end GI gripes. Gripping is a soldier's chief sport and recreation and it is doubtful if any emergency ration, whether it is labeled C or E or Z, will ever win his affectionate regard.

Rush Helicopter Blades To Swiss Air Crash Scene

CLEVELAND, Nov. 23.—(INS)—New design rotor blades from a helicopter on display at the national aircraft show in Cleveland were dismantled today to be rushed to the Swiss air crash scene to aid in the rescue of 11 marooned Americans.

E. M. Benham, an official of the Sikorsky exhibit at the show, told International News Service that a C-46 army plane would pick up the new blades and re-install them on an army R-5 helicopter at Westover field, Mass.

Benham said the new blades would permit the helicopter to reach an altitude not possible with the present army type. He added that war department officials in Washington informed him that a rescue party had contacted the crash victims and that the helicopter might not reach the scene in time to be used in rescue work.

However, Benham said, the helicopter is scheduled to leave the United States about 3 p. m. today and would arrive in Switzerland about 16 hours later. The craft would be used to remove the crash victims from their isolated perch on the glaciers.

The army previously had reported that it would not be able to send any helicopters to the crash scene.

"Don't be telling me about John L. Lewis, and coal strikes and brownouts and maybe cutting up the piano for firewood", said our old friend Horatius Q. McGiverty as he sat on the bumper of a truck in our garage.

BOSTON, Nov. 23.—(INS)—State Fuel Administrator Edward P. Barry announced today dimming of outdoor illumination on advertising signs and theater marquees will be enforced in Massachusetts only if the federal brownout order is mandatory.

TIME TO GET READY FOR WINTER

WHEN you take down your screens and put up storm windows... when you give your furnace a checking over to see if it's ready for use... then it's also time to get your water pipes ready for winter.

TAKE THESE PRECAUTIONS NOW:

- Wrap exposed water pipes with old newspapers, rags or burlap.
- Turn off and drain outside fixtures.
- Make your basement snug. Repair broken window panes. Stuff cracks in walls, around windows and doors which admit cold air.

These simple precautions will save future inconvenience and possible costly repairs resulting from frozen water pipes.

LET'S MAKE EVERY DAY THANKSGIVING DAY

Next Thursday is the day set aside when we return thanks for our blessings of the year. All of us have so much for which to be thankful. Health, friends, life itself. Sure we have a lot of annoyances in the United States just now, but can you think of a better place?

Let's make every day Thanksgiving Day. Let's start every day with the determination that we will walk the streets or drive the highways in such fashion that we will see the family at dinner at night. And so the other fellow will see his also.

School Employees Retirement Laws May Be Amended

Believe Amendment Necessary To Clarify Contribution Increase Ruling

HARRISBURG, Nov. 23.—(INS)—An amendment to the school employees' retirement laws was believed necessary today to clarify a Justice Department ruling on employees' contribution increases.

George B. Buck, attorney for the school employees' retirement fund, told delegates to the annual education congress at Harrisburg that adjustments were made only for employees hired after September 1 and did not effect state or local school district payments. Longer life spans pointed up the need for a larger retirement pool, he added.

It was not clear, Buck said, whether the opinion gave teachers "more annuity for their contributions than would have been the case before new tables were adopted and whether this money will come from public sources."

The retirement board has boosted salary deductions from a range of 3.33 to 6.59 per cent to 4.02 to 7.25 per cent.

Legislative action would be required to "make the rates comply with the attorney general's opinion," Buck added.

He called for liberalized benefits, asserting that Pennsylvania's rates were "close to the most conservative" offered throughout the nation.

Audience Likes Shenango Play

Seniors Present Comedy To Crowd Of Five Hundred In Shenango School On Friday

Playing to an audience of 500 in the auditorium of the school, Shenango High School seniors gave an amusing interpretation of the three-act comedy, "High Pressure Homer" as their senior class play Friday evening.

The student actors delighted the large crowd with the clever way in which they presented the madcap Woodruff family and the "big promoter" Homer. Dolores Mougner, a competent character actress, and Charles McGary made the character of Homer memorable.

Between the acts, the student orchestra under Miss Leola Rowe entertained, and the audience heard songs sung by Julia Toth, Malinda Newton, Elsie Bogle and Ida Cramer.

Mrs. Alice Kelso, director of the play, received a lovely gift from the senior class, with Charles McGary making the presentation.

The well-chosen cast included: Glenn Shaffer, John Cochran, Suzanne Bessell, Jane Zmuda, Mary Lou Eakin, Beverly Kelly, Mildred Hay, Charlotte Young, Ray Nelson, and Joseph Melusney.

Mt. Jackson High Seniors Present Play At School

Score Triumph In Staging Of "Sing For Your Supper" On Friday Night

Mt. Jackson High school seniors played to a packed house last night, with standing room only when the play "Sing For Your Supper" was presented in the high school auditorium.

Hilarious is the word to describe the play with a modern setting in a small town, suburb of a large city, the local high school of which needs a music teacher. The application on probation is that of Stephen Foster Brown, the "Mystery Radio Crooner" who doesn't want to renew his contract because he would rather write serious music. With a fast moving comedy plot, the music teacher lands, not the job, but the president of the school board's daughter and renews the radio contract.

Joan Martin who played the part of Susan Piper, the sensible daughter of the president of the school board, and June Henry, as Pinky, a younger sister were superb in their acting ability. Alan Anderson and Anna McConaghy, lent dignity to the parts of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Brown, did a fine job in his part.

Create Lighter

Norma Lee Gleason who portrayed Laurette Piper, a bobby-soxer, carried her part well, as did Nola Patterson, playing Joanie, Laurette's friend. Their boy friends, Ranny and Biff, played by Joseph Jameson and Lester Mollenkopf, had the audience roaring with laughter when they dressed as bobby-soxers and mimicked the girls in swooning when the "Mystery Crooner" appeared.

The "heavies" were well supported by the ability of Marjorie Neagle as Marilee, Shirley Gwin as Ramona the maid; Harriet McMillough and Raymond Gibson as Tessa Topper, the columnist, and Stacy, the photographer. Doris Benson, Helen Reher, Dora Wigley and Katherine Bozinski the bobby-sox brigade played hilarious parts.

Band Performs

Between acts of the play, a high school swing band, under the supervision of George Kyle, gave out with some hot licks on the down beat. They were really good.

Under the fine direction of Miss Martha A. Matthews and Miss Agnes Peebles, the play was a complete success. Helping them were: Business managers, Glenn Martin and George Byers; costume properties: Mary Jane Gardner and Glenn Clark; advertising committee: Mary Lou Hamilton and Eleanor Pitts; stage managers, Raymond Byers and George Gilkey; lights and sound, Raymond Klammer; ushers, Greta Regal, Marcella Gerner and Lillie Mae McAnis.

New Castle Man Gets $8,000 Award

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 23.—A federal jury has awarded a New Castle Pa. man and his son $8,000 for injuries suffered by the son in a highway accident in 1942.

The verdict gave the son, Lynn Perry Rosenholm, 21, $5,000, and his father, Eric Rosenholm, $3,000. The defendant was the Farm Bureau Mutual Automobile Insurance Co. of Ohio.

The Rosenholms brought suit on the allegation that an adjustor for the insurance company had promised a settlement for the accident in which young Rosenholm suffered a broken leg. They charged that the adjustor later refused to make the settlement.

The company had insured a woman driver whose automobile collided with a motorcycle on which young Rosenholm was a passenger.

Army And Notre Dame Re-play Of Tie Ruled Out

Army Refusing All Bowl Bids; Navy Last Game

Major General Taylor Superintendent At West Point, Says "No Post-Season Games"

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 23.—(INS)—Major General Maxwell D. Taylor, superintendent of the U. S. Military Academy, announced today that Army will not participate in post season football games.

Following a discussion of post season competition with the athletic council and the football squad, General Taylor announced that Army's football season will end and the squad will disband following the Army-Navy game in Philadelphia on November 30.

Express Gratitude
The military academy authorities in a formal statement, said they wish to express their gratitude for the post-season invitations which have come from the various parts of the country and the nation's interest in the 1946 football team.

The Army's decision quashed a series of reports and rumors that the Black Knights, who have gone undefeated under the impetus of the Doc Blanchard, Glenn Davis and Arnold Tucker triumvirate for the past three seasons would accept a post season bowl game.

Army officials at first had been reported receptive to a bid to play in the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Cal., on New Year's Day, but the recent agreement between the Pacific Coast Conference and the Big Nine for a five-year bowl pact, ruled out Army's appearance on the Pacific coast.

Then, the Sugar Bowl officials in New Orleans were reported seeking Army to play the New Year's Day classic there.

Irish Re-Play Off
Overnight, the Los Angeles city council invited Army to play off the recent New York scoreless tie with Notre Dame in the Los Angeles Coliseum on Dec. 22 or 23.

Notre Dame officials, while maintaining that they customarily were opposed to post season contests, intimated the athletic board might change its decision, if Army was agreeable to the replay of the "game of the century."

But Friday's ruling by General Taylor silenced the reports, and the three-year record of the great Army eleven will remain intact, provided they defeat Navy as anticipated.

Montgomery And Mouzon Ending Heavy Training

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23.—(INS)—Champion Bob Montgomery and Challenger Wesley Mouzon went through their final lengthy workouts at their training camps today for their lightweight title bout in Philadelphia's Convention Hall on November 26.

Managers of both camps planned to have their fighters rest tomorrow, and hold light exercises on Monday.

See Big Gate
The bout, which is expected to draw a $100,000 gate, will be the first lightweight title fight ever to be staged in Philadelphia, and the first anywhere having two Philadelphiaans vying for the crown.

Mouzon, the fast-stepping, 19-year-old challenger, is rated a 6 to 5 favorite, over the 27-year-old Bobcat, whom he knocked in two rounds in a non-title bout last August.

Accompanying the "live demonstration" will be movies showing offensive and defensive maneuvers of the sport.

Following the clinic will be a game between the "Y" All-Stars and the American Legion team of New Wilmington.

All Stars Edge Penguins, 39-38 In Hectic Battle

Locals Subdue Ohioans Late Rally To Take Thriller On "Y" Floor Last Night

"Y" All Stars froze the ball with a minute and a half remaining in the game to nose out the invading Youngstown college Penguins last night, 39-38 in a hectic battle staged on the "Y" floor.

A fine crowd looked on as the two teams, beautifully matched, waged a ding-dong scrap back and forth across the hardwood. After spotting the Ohio team a four point lead in the initial frame the Red-coated locals took one bit in their teeth in the second stanza and hung on for dear life to the bitter end.

Bob Pitzer Big Gun
Bob Pitzer paced the Stars to their well-earned victory, wishing in six fielders and one foul toss for a 13-point total and the best of the evening. "Lefty" Tanner, with ten, was second best for the locals.

Paced by Bush with three field goals and Gergely and Christman with two each, the Stars, plus a quick-minded fielder by Bob Pitzer, led to a first quarter lead of 17 to 13.

Stars Take Lead
In the second period Bib Pitzer and Janacene pumped in counters and McGary got a foul shot to knot the count at 18-18. A few moments later Pitzer knotted again to give the Red men the lead 20 to 19 at the half.

In the third stanza the Ohioans snarled the count 21-21, then Pitzer began to level his sights, whipping in three two-pointers, the All-Star pulling his team even with a push shot to make it 26-26. McGary again gave the locals the lead with a field goal. The "Y" men led at the end of the quarter 34-29.

Wild Fourth Period
Youngstown tried desperately to erase the New Castle lead in the final period. However, spirited defensive play by the Stars, plus a quick-minded fielder by Bob Pitzer, protected the edge.

In the prelude game the First Presbyterian defeated the Shenango street "Y", 45-23.

Non-scoring substitutions: All-Stars—Caleza, Wimer, Erok, Youngstown—Zemba, Dan-Don, Johnson, Prokop, Wize, Branch, Williams.

Scores by periods: ALL STARS 13 10 12 4 39 YOUNGSTOWN 17 7 14 5 39 Officials: Ross and Llewellyn.

Worsham Leading Atlanta Tourney

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 23.—(INS)—The $12,000 Deird Hill invitational tourney went into another round today with Lou Worsham of Washington, D. C., in the lead with a 36-hole total of 136.

Worsham's five-under-par 67 yesterday gave him a three-stroke lead over his nearest competitors.

They were Joe Zarhardt, Norristown, Pa., and Jimmy DeMaret, Houston, Tex., who fired a 72 to go with his leading score of 67 in the first round. Both had 129's.

The Lions, who are undefeated but tied by the Shamrocks in an earlier meeting, will have a rugged battle on their hands.

Coach Moffett of the Shamrocks wants all players of the team to meet at Paul street at one p. m. Sunday.

Committee Will Meet On Monday

Coach Patterson's eight holdovers include Paul Roberts, Jim Smith, Ed Cartwright, Lou Rotundo, John Pishaw, Rex Conti, Gayle Kerr and Frank Jaworski. Severe Penalty For Auto Driver

Failure To Stop At Accident
Scene Brings Fine And Workhouse Sentence

OTHER NEWS OF COURT HOUSE

Another automobile driver learned on Saturday that failure to stop after an accident is expensive business. Bernard E. Shaner was before Judge W. Walter Braham in Lawrence County court upon a charge of failure to stop, and was fined $100 and costs and got eight months in the Allegheny County workhouse in addition.

It was said that Shaner hit five cars in the accident in which he was involved and kept going. He finally stopped when his car failed, and he was arrested.

Judge John G. Limore gave notice that this form of violation will meet with severity when he recently gave a man six months to the county jail, Judge Braham, with a more flagrant case before him, made the time eight months.

FILL JURY WHEEL

Are you sober? Are you intelligent? Are you industrious? If you are you are eligible to have your name placed in the jury wheel for 1947. Probationary and Clerk of Courts John A. Edgar has received a notice from the court setting December 2, 1946 as the day when the president judge and the jury commissioners will fill the wheel with names of citizens who will be called to serve in 1947. What names are left from this year and enough will be added to make 1800.

SENTENCES IMPOSED

On a plea to a charge of driving while intoxicated before Judge W. Walter Braham, R. E. Gibson was fined $100 and costs and given thirty days in the county jail. Out in three if the fine and costs are paid.

Earl R. McVey, a morals charge, ordered to pay $175 living-in costs. Harvey W. Covert, driving a motor vehicle without consent of the owner, $100 and costs, to be paid within ten days.

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 23.—(INS)—At a White House suggestion, the scenes portraying President Truman in the atom bomb picture are being re-shot by M-G-M.

The scenes, with Actor Roman Bohnen playing Mr. Truman, show the President approving the order to use the atom bomb in Hiroshima. Except for the simulated explosion of the bomb itself, the scenes are among the high points of the picture, "The Beginning and the End."

The White House was said to have approved the general sequence prior to the time the picture was being shot several months ago. Later, however, "suggestions" were made for changes because of slight dramatic liberties the studio had taken with the scenes.

As soon as word reached Producer Sam Marx of Mr. Truman's wishes, he immediately directed the scenes be re-shot.

The delay may prevent release of the picture until after January 1, eliminating it as a contender for the March Academy award although it still would be eligible for an "Oscar" in 1948.

This is the second change in the picture involving a presidential figure.

Lionel Barrymore, who had been cast to play the role of President Roosevelt, had to be withdrawn when Mrs. Roosevelt objected to him. Barrymore was an outspoken critic of the late President's policies.

Geoffrey Tearle finally was substituted, giving a performance of remarkable realism.

Claude Jarman Jr., the towhead from Tennessee, is nursing a black eye. Claude is the 12-year-old unknown who'll star in "The Yearling," but whose big ambition is to play quarterback for the University of Tennessee some day. It was in a sand lot scrimmage that Claude acquired the black eye. He's as proud of it as if he had won an "Oscar."

Marie Windsor, the brunette beauty from Utah, is limping. It's her right foot. Forgetting she'd left her phone beside the bed, Marie jumped out suddenly, stepped on the instrument and sprained her ankle.

Van Johnson and Jim Davis, two of the town's biggest hustlers, are nursing a few aches and bruises after a tip-roaring battle for "Romance of Rosy Ridge."

So much for the week's casualties.

Mummers Protest Prize Money Not Enough To Parade

Philadelphia Parade Each New Years May Be Discontinued
After This Year

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23.—(INS)—Those frolicking Philadelphia mummers, who introduce each year by cavorting down Broad street in gay plumes and floats, wore glum faces today over the cut in their prize money.

James Durning, president of the New Year's Shooters' and Mummers' association, predicted that the parades would end in the near future unless city council reconsiders and boosts its $12,000 prize money appropriation.

"We took a voluntary cut from $30,000 to $15,000 in 1943 because of the war," one officer said. "Council told us we would get the prize money back at the end of the war, but it appears they have forgotten all about us now."

They said the association is spending $100,000 on costumes this year and felt the prize money should be raised.

HOUSEHOLD FURNISHINGS NOW FOUND IN PLASTICS

Plastic film fabrics and plastic coated materials are among the newer things being used for household furnishings, such as draperies, window and shower curtains, crib sheets, and table cloths.

Pure plastic comes in film form of different weights. Plastic coated fabrics are made by coating textile fabrics, such as muslin, saten, nylon, and monk's cloth, with a plastic film. The finished product is said to be stainproof, waterproof, mothproof, and resistant to mildew, acids, and alkalis.

These plastic coated fabrics may be cleaned by wiping with a damp cloth; sponging with soap and water, then wiping dry; or dousing up and down in lukewarm soap-suds, rinsing in clear water, and wiping dry. The method of washing followed depends upon the type of fabric. Stains should be removed as soon as possible.

Plastic coated fabrics require careful handling. They should not be pressed or ironed because they melt at low temperatures and they would never come in contact with sharp or pointed objects. There is no satisfactory way to mend a plastic film. The method of washing pairs may be made with Scotch tape.

Because it is not easy to distinguish between good and poor plastics, consumers are urged to buy from reliable firms and read the tags and labels that come on the plastics.

Navy Will Loan Power Generators

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(INS)—The navy arranged today to loan powerful generating equipment to communities whose essential public services are jeopardized by the coal shortage.

At the same time the navy authorized sale of fuel and power where necessary to safeguard health or property of local communities.

In a directive sent to commanders of all naval districts in the United States, the department ordered all possible conservation of coal. Commandants also were authorized to restrict naval industrial and construction work consuming fuel.

As a further step the navy recommended that all non-coal power-generating equipment, whether in regular or standby use be pressed into service for the conservation of coal.

Senatus Romanus Fall Term Party At Senior High

Fall term party of Senatus Romanus, honorary club of the Latin department at the senior high school, was held in the cafeteria of the school Friday evening with approximately 37 attending.

The program consisted of active games and contests of various kinds. Prizes were awarded to Peter Raidy, Victor Ross, and Lawrence Sonntag.

The success of what was one of the most enjoyable social occasions ever sponsored by this organization, was due to the arrangements planned by the committee of which James Preston was chairman. His assistants were Carol Patterson, Ann Shevman, Victor Ross, Lois Baum, Charles Cabau, Marshall Conn and Harvey Bush.

A new feature of this now traditional party was a guest-list consisting of invited members of the Vergil and Cicero classes. Guests from the senior Latin class were Bruce Brown, Lawrence Sonntag and Patsey Stitzinger. Guests from the Junior class were Lucille Shellen, Georgiana Heidich, Geraldine Groes, and Eleanor Hogan.

The officers of Senatus Romanus for the year are: Consul Primus, Harvey Bush; consul secundus, James Preston; scriba prima, Ann Shevman; scriba secunda, Carol Patterson; quaestor primus, Victor Ross; quaestor secundus, Gene Gribble; aedilemunicipalis, Alice Mitsas; centrix, Mary Olson.

Whitman's Poem Available Now For Great Books Forum

Walt Whitman's "Song of Myself" will be discussed at the Great Books forum Tuesday evening when Frank Blanning will be the leader.

For the meeting, which starts at 7:30 in the assembly room of the public library, copies of the poem are available at the library desk now, and may be obtained at any time free of charge, according to Miss Alice Sterling, chief librarian. Interest in this subject will be widespread, since Whitman is called "The Prophet of American democracy."

"Whitman," says H. S. Canby, prominent critic, "shocked his contemporaries, but for this generation he is intelligible and dynamic."

TUBERCULOSIS AND MONEY
Tuberculosis is an expensive disease. Usually when a person has it he is sick for a long time. He is not able to work. He needs considerable medical and nursing care. He may spend a long time in a hospital.

All of this care and treatment costs a lot of money. Sometimes the patient pays the bill but usually it is paid by the Commonwealth. After many years of experience it was found out that prevention is cheaper than cure. In the long run it costs less to examine school children for possible early cases than to treat them after they get sick.

Skin tests and X Rays by the thousands cost a lot of money but money is saved after all.

About the time that tuberculosis is pretty well under control by present methods, a cure will be discovered.

That seems to be the way of the world, but it is a good world. Here's hoping your X Ray is O. K.

Grange Leaders Oppose Draft Peace Time

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 23.—(INS)

National grange leaders are returning to their homes after reaffirming the farm organization's opposition to peacetime conscription.

A resolution declaring that "we want no peacetime conscription" was adopted by the 80th national grange convention a few hours before adjournment.

The convention called upon congress to determine the number of men needed by each branch of the armed forces and then provide "adequate pay and an opportunity to secure the best education in many broad fields." The organization expressed belief that with this done "we will have no difficulty in recruiting plenty of manpower on a voluntary basis."

The grange leaders also branded immorality in the armed forces as "shocking" and called for "a wholesale cleanup of moral standards."

The convention took its action two days after hearing Lt. Gen. J. Lawton Collins urge congressional approval of the army's universal training plan.

The grange also called for an end to consumer subsidies, warning against sharing atomic bomb secrets until a trustworthy world federation of nations has been established, urged support of the United Nations and opposed any alliances.

J. EDGAR PEW IS TAKEN BY DEATH

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23.—(INS)—J. Edgar Pew, 76, executive vice president of the Sun Oil Company, died Friday at his Villanova, Pa., home.

He had been in poor health since last February and sank into a coma yesterday from which he never emerged.

The oil company executive was a cousin of J. Howard Pew, president of the Sun Oil.

The deceased was re-elected to the directorship of the American Petroleum Institute at its annual convention in Chicago only last week.

His son, John G. Pew, of Dallas, Tex., was at his father's bedside when death came.
